

BERATUNG INTERKULTURELL

Beratung von Frauen für Frauen

Our main mission and our wish is to provide advice and support to women facing a crisis in their lives, regardless of their nationality and their resident status. Our advisers have a duty of confidentiality and will protect each woman's privacy and anonymity. Beratung Interkulturell offers specialist advice to women from migrant families across the Saarland who are affected by physical or psychological violence at home or suffered violence in their countries of origin or when migrating to Germany.

At our information centre, three female advisers from migrant families provide assistance in the following languages: English, German, French, Bosnian, Croatian and Serbian.

For all other languages, language and cultural mediators will be used.

Consultations are free of charge.

Advice and support for women who experience violence

The ways we can help include:

Assess the current threat of violence and offer individual consultation to women based on the help they need.

Explain to women how they can assert their rights and accompany women to specialist lawyers.

Inform women about further assistance measures offered by participating network partners, such as women's shelters, psychotherapists, specialist lawyers as well as social services departments and youth welfare offices.

Help women obtain advanced vocational education on the job market and develop new future prospects in terms of professional and family life.
